

Exhibit at Aquaterra 2009 PUT YOUR COMPANY IN THE SPOTLIGHT!

Tuesday, February 10 and Wednesday, February 11 the exhibition at Aquaterra 2009 will be the central focal point for networking and information transfer. This unique event, designed to match supply and demand in the industry, will be held in the newly built RAI Elicium of Amsterdam RAI, adjacent to the conferencerooms. The innovative and first class facilities of the RAI Elicium represent more space, more opportunities and more inspiration. Aquaterra 2009 is the ideal opportunity to present your products and services to decision makers, and the best possible way to contact new and existing clients. The exhibition will be visited by congress delegates. During the congress opening hours coffee, tea and lunch will be served in the exhibition area.

Artist impression RAI Elicium.

Reasons to exhibit at Aquaterra 2009

- Aquaterra '09 is the platform for delta technology. You will meet representatives of leading stakeholders, companies and institutes from around the world who are involved with delta and coastal development. Make sure to use this exclusive gathering to present your own innovative approaches
- The multi-focus nature of the event. You will find all the disciplines involved in issues affecting deltas and coasts to be present, including finance, practical know-how, policy and engineering
- The 'shop window' nature of the event. Important decision-makers and potential buyers from all over the world will be gathered under one roof, to join you at your stand
- Aquaterra 2009 is a unique content-driven platform for knowledge and technology transfer
- The exhibition features basic shell scheme construction, saving you time and money in preparing your participation
- The opportunity to profit from optimal momentum in time to influence international strategy in the development of delta and coastal regions
- The emphasis on mutual inspiration and sharing insights: You are sure to go home inspired!
